FYSPRT Presentation.1

7. Sam informed the group that Salish FYSPRT is again in need of a Youth Tri-Lead. He requested that attendees consider who they may know that may be interested in filling this position and help inform potential Youth Tri-Leads of the position description and responsibilities as outlined in the FYSPRT manual. Questions were posed regarding the number of meetings to attend, age requirements, stipend compensation, and more. Sam told the group that he will forward the position description outlined in the FYSPRT manual.
8. The group discussed COVID-19 impacts to school age children and their families. Several members commented on the decrease in social activities for their children along with some increase in anxiety. Some frustrations were shared regarding home-schooled children being passed to the next higher grade despite parents thinking they weren't ready to move on. Another member shared comments about schools falling short regarding children with special needs and the school's efforts to utilize a virtual learning environment. Parents are not sure what to think about the potential return to school in the fall.
9. Susan Wood shared some supportive comments from her Mom's group. She meets regularly with other Moms who all have experience with their children receiving WISE services. Susan talked positively of the therapeutic benefit they all receive by supporting each other, having shared some of the same challenges and successes.
